

Alien Tourist Podcast in Production

I've had a podcast project in the works for some time. It's coming together and initial shows are in production right now. In fact, if you go look at the menu bar under "Media" you'll now see the first item is the archive/show notes page for the podcast.

The theme of Alien Tourist is an idiosyncratic look at the intersection of change, creativity, the real world and the worlds of "if". And yes, there is an intersection, and I have a Venn Diagram to prove it!

My traveling companion is Fredly the Alien (pictured) who helps me see things with new eyes. Kinda like a tourist from faaaar faaaar away.

"We are from France." Or maybe we're Big Giant Heads. Or something else entirely. I suppose it will all come clear over time...
